

Good Evening!

Holy Friday

April 2, 2010

A few words of worship preparation ...

As we come to continue our observance of this Holy Week, we assemble at the foot of the cross. We not only become witnesses to the crucifixion of Jesus of Nazareth, but more importantly we become witnesses to the show of obedience and love which Jesus demonstrated to His father and to His people.

As we gather this evening, let us be ever mindful of the seriousness for which we come. This evening is actually a coming together to remember the death He paid upon the cross. Even to His very last minute, Jesus continued to share and to give, even to the one who betrayed and to those who crucified Him. Let us allow ourselves to freely fellowship with each other as we gather and prepare for this service. But then, through the service, let us remember the seriousness of the moment.
